

Corrigendum to “Seasonal and long-term patterns of reproductive phenology in the Wet Tropics rainforests of Australia” published in Web Ecol., 26, 175–192, 2026

Nara O. Vogado^{1,2}, Jayden E. Engert^{1,2}, and Michael J. Liddell¹

¹Centre for Tropical Environmental and Sustainability Science, James Cook University, Cairns, QLD, Australia

²Max Planck Institute of Animal Behavior, Konstanz, Germany

Correspondence: Nara O. Vogado (vogado.nara@gmail.com)

Published: 24 August 2026

In the published article, there was an error in Fig. 5a and c due to an incorrectly formatted version provided by the authors during proofreading. The corrected version of Fig. 5 and its corresponding caption are shown here. The remaining text, findings, and overall conclusions of the article are unaffected by this error.

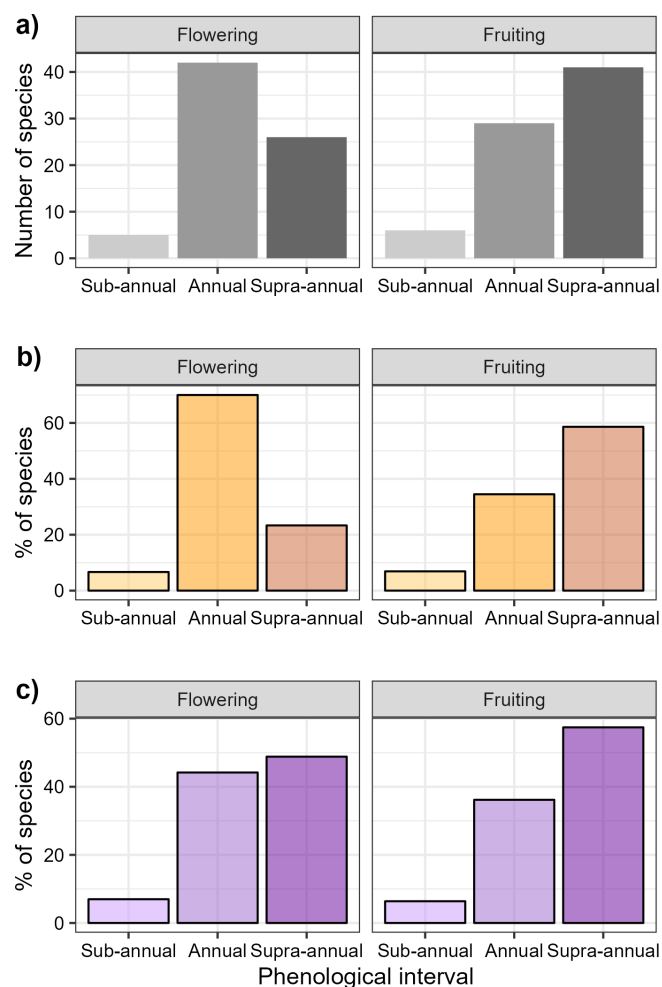

Figure 5. (a) Number of species classified as sub-annual, annual, and supra-annual for flowering and fruiting at the community level; and percentage of species in each category for the (b) abiotic and (c) biotic functional groups at the Skyrail rainforest site.